Presbyterian Support Otago (PSO)

Response to the Royal Commission (RCI) Recommendations on Abuse in Care

1. Recommendations specific to faith-based organisations (PSEC)

Recommendation	Response	Comments	Action Plan
Recommendation 3 Public acknowledgments and apologies for historical abuse and neglect in the care of the State (both direct and indirectly provided care) and faith-based institutions should be made to survivors, their whānau and support networks by: a. the most senior leaders of all faith- based institutions and without limitation b. the Chief Executive Officer (or equivalent) of each individual Presbyterian Support Organisation should make public apologies and acknowledgements for abuse and neglect in the care of their respective Presbyterian Support organisation	Accept	PSO developed the apology wording taking into account perspective of survivors, other stakeholders and learnings from the Wanaketia. To be published on PSO website on 27/09/24. PSNZ is working on the national apology to survivors, expected by the end of September 2024.	From September 2024 CEO PSO apology to be presented to various stakeholder groups.
Recommendation 5 All entities that provide care, or have provided care, directly or indirectly on behalf of the State and faith-based entities, local authorities and any other	Accept		By November 2024 Executive Team Consider: - Review of the photo panel in the Moray Street foyer depicting children and removing from display if connected to abuse.

relevant entities should review an appropriateness of names of proven perpetrators and institutions where abuse and neglect took place. a. review the appropriateness of any streets, public amenities, public honours or any memorials named after, depicting, recognising or celebrating a proven perpetrator of abuse and neglect in care and/or an institution where proven abuse and neglect took place b. consider what steps may be taken to change the names and what else should be done address the harm caused to survivors by the memorialisation of Recommendation 6 Where there are reasonable grounds to believe that torture or cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment have occurred in care directly or indirectly on behalf of the State or faith-based entities, and the relevant allegations have not been investigated by NZ Police or credible new information has arisen since the allegations were investigated, NZ Police should: a. open or re-open independent and transparent criminal investigations into possible criminal offending b. proactively and widely advertise the intent to investigate and ongoing investigations c. provide appropriate assistance and support to survivors, their whānau and	Accept

e. Care Safety Principle 5: Abuse and neglect prevention should be embedded	neglect prevention should be embedded in the leadership, governance and culture of all State and faith-based entities (and indirect care providers) involved in the care system, including government agencies, faith leaders, care providers and staff and care workers:

i. leaders across the care system champion the prevention of abuse and neglect in care
ii. prevention of abuse and neglect is a shared responsibility at all levels of the care system
iii. governance arrangements in agencies and entities ensure implementation of measures to prevent abuse and neglect in care and there are accountabilities and obligations set at all levels iv. risk management strategies focus on abuse and neglect prevention v. codes of conduct set clear behavioural expectations of all staff and care workers.
f. Care Safety Principle 6: Care providers should recognise, uphold and implement human rights standards and obligations and the Enabling Good Lives principles, and recognise and provide for diverse needs including Deaf and disabled people and people experiencing mental distress:
i. people in care are supported and provided accessible information to understand their rights ii. care providers have human rights standards embedded in their policies and practice
iii. care providers understand people's diverse circumstances and respond effectively to people who are at increased risk of experiencing abuse and/or neglect iv. Enabling Good Lives principles underpin all support for disabled people, including culturally appropriate support as determined by whānau hauā, tāngata whaikaha and tāngata whaiora, to enable and empower disabled people to live well, participate in their community without segregation or institutionalisation and make decisions about their lives.

g. Care Safety Principle 7: Staff and care workers should be suitable and supported:
i. all stages of recruitment, including advertising and screening, emphasise the values of caring for people in care, safety of people in care and prevention of abuse and neglect
ii. staff and care workers have regularly updated safety checks iii. staff and care workers receive appropriate induction and training and are aware of their responsibilities to prevent abuse and neglect, including reporting obligations
iv. staff and care workers receive appropriate training to ensure they have cultural competency v. education programmes for staff and care workers include units focused on understanding and preventing abuse and neglect in care
vi. supervision and people management include a focus on preventing abuse and neglect.

h. Care Safety Principle 8: Staff and care workers should be equipped with the knowledge, skills and awareness to keep people in care safe through continuous education and training:
i. staff and care workers receive training on the nature and signs of abuse and neglect in care
ii. staff and care workers receive training on organisational and national abuse and neglect prevention policies and practices iii. staff and care workers are supported to develop practical skills in safeguarding children, young people and adults in care iv. staff and care workers have the appropriate cultural knowledge.
i. Care Safety Principle 9: Processes to respond to complaints of abuse and neglect and neglect should respond appropriately to the person (e.g. child-focused or young person-focused or adult in care-focused) in a timely manner:
i. everyone in care and their whānau and support networks have access to information, decision-making supports to engage in complaints processes ii. care providers have complaint handling policies appropriate for the people in care which clearly outline roles and responsibilities, approaches for responding to complaints and obligations to act and report iii. effective complaints processes are understood by people in care, staff and volunteers and whanau and support networks and are culturally appropriate iv. complaints are taken seriously, responded to promptly and thoroughly, and reporting, privacy and employment law obligations are met.

j. Care Safety Principle 10: Physical and online environments should minimise the opportunity for abuse and neglect to occur:
i. risks in online and physical environments are mitigated whilst upholding the right to privacy and ensuring wellbeing of people in care ii. online environments are used in accordance with organisations' code of conduct.
k. Care Safety Principle 11: Standards, policy and practice should be continuously reviewed, including from time to time independently reviewed, and improved:
i. care providers regularly review standards, policy and practice to prevent and improve responses to abuse and neglect in care
ii. complaints and concerns are analysed to identify systemic issues, both within organisations and within the care system as a whole
iii. people who are currently or have previously been in care are enabled to participate in reviews of standards, policy, practice.
I. Care Safety Principle 12: Policies and procedures should document how each care provider will ensure that people in care are safe:

 i. safeguarding practice is prioritised and integrated throughout the organisation ii. policies and procedures embed safeguarding and abuse and neglect prevention measures policies and procedures are accessible and easy to understand iii. stakeholder consultation informs the development of policies and procedures iv. leaders champion and model compliance with policies and procedures v. staff and care workers understand and implement the policies and procedures.
Recommendation 50 The leaders of all State and faith-based entities providing care directly or indirectly should ensure there is effective oversight and leadership of safeguarding at the highest level, including at governance or trustee level where applicable. in the best interests of children, young people or adults in care and should be an integral part of institutional leadership, governance, and culture. Institutions that care for or provide services to children, young people or adults in care must keep the best interests of the child uppermost in all aspects of their conduct, including recordkeeping. It is in the best interest of children, young people, or adults in care that institutions foster a culture in which the creation and management of accurate records, including detailed information about ethnicity and impairments, are integral parts of the institution's operations and governance.
b. Record-keeping Principle 2: Records to include all incidents and responses.
Full and accurate records should be created about all incidents, responses and decisions affecting the safety and wellbeing, including abuse and neglect in care, of children, young people, or adults in care. Institutions should ensure that records are created to document any identified incidents of grooming, inappropriate behaviour (including breaches of institutional codes of conduct) or abuse and neglect in care and all responses to such incidents. Records created by institutions should be clear, objective, and thorough. They should be created at, or as close as possible to, the time the incidents occurred, and clearly show the author (whether individual or institutional) and the date created.

c. Record-keeping Principle 3: Records to be maintained in an indexed, logical and secure manner.
Records relevant to the safety and wellbeing of children, young people or adults in care, including abuse and neglect in care, should be maintained appropriately and in an indexed, logical and secure manner.
Associated records should be co-located or cross-referenced to ensure that people using those records are aware of all relevant information.
d. Record-keeping Principle 4: Records only be disposed of in accordance with law or policy.
Records relevant to the safety and
in care should only be disposed of in accordance with law or policy. Records relevant to the safety and wellbeing, including abuse and neglect in care, of
must only be destroyed in accordance with records disposal schedules or published institutional policies. Records relevant to abuse and neglect in care should be subject to minimum retention periods that allow for delayed disclosure of abuse and neglect by victims and survivors and take account of limitation periods for civil actions for abuse and neglect in care.
e. Record-keeping Principle 5: Individuals' rights to access, amend or annotate records about themselves to be recognised to the fullest extent Individuals' existing rights to access, amend or annotate records about themselves should be recognised to the fullest extent including in a way that is compliant with the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities. Individuals whose childhoods are documented in records held by all entities providing care directly or indirectly should have a right to access records made about them. Full access should be given unless contrary to law. This includes the right to access records without redaction. Specific, not generic, explanations should be provided in any case where a record, or part of a record, is withheld or redacted. Consent of the person who is currently or was previously in care should be proactively sought if information needs to be shared with family members.

alleged abuse and neglect in care for at least 75 years in a separate central register, to allow for delayed disclosure and redress claims or civil litigation.		Establish and manage central register for alleged abuse and neglect in care; retain for 75 years.
Recommendation 89 All faith-based entities that provide activities or services of any kind, under the auspices of a particular religious denomination or faith, through which adults have contact with children, young people or adults in care, should comply with the Care Safety Principles (Recommendation 39), the National Care Safety Strategy (Recommendation 40) and all statutory requirements under the Care Safety Act (Recommendation 41), including care standards, accreditation and vetting. Faith-based entities in highly regulated sectors, such as schools and out-of-home care service providers, should also report their compliance to the religious organisation to which they are affiliated.	In principle agree.	PSO will be engaging with new Care Safety Acts when in place.
Recommendation 90 All faith-based entities should adopt the Care Safety Principles (Recommendation 39), the National Care Safety Strategy (Recommendation 40) and all statutory requirements under the Care Safety Act (Recommendation 41), including care standards, accreditation, and vetting, for each of their affiliated institutions.	In principle agree.

Recommendation 91 All faith-based entities should drive a consistent approach to the implementation of the Care Safety Principles (Recommendation 39), the National Care Safety Strategy (Recommendation 40) and all statutory requirements under the Care Safety Act (Recommendation 41), including care standards, accreditation, and vetting, in each of their affiliated institutions.	In principle agree.
Recommendation 92 All faith-based entities should work closely with the independent Care Safe Agency and independent oversight bodies to support the implementation of and compliance with the Care Safety Principles (Recommendation 39), the National Care Safety Strategy (Recommendation 40), and all statutory requirements under the Care Safety Act (Recommendation 41), including care standards, accreditation, and vetting, in each of their affiliated institutions.	In principle agree.
Recommendation 93 All faith-based entities should ensure their religious leaders are provided with leadership training both pre- and post- appointment, including identifying, preventing, and responding to abuse and neglect in care, cultural awareness, and addressing prejudice and all forms of discrimination.	Agree but feel it is for the churches to accept and act on the recommendation.

Recommendation 94 All faith-based entities should ensure that religious leaders are accountable to an appropriate authority or body, such as a board of management or council, for the decisions they make with respect to preventing and responding to abuse and neglect in care.		Agree but feel it is for the churches to accept and act on the recommendation.
Recommendation 96 All faith-based entities should ensure that all people in religious or pastoral ministry, including religious leaders, have professional supervision with a trained professional or pastoral supervisor who has a degree of independence from the institution within which the person is in ministry. Recommendation 98 Each faith-based entity should ensure that candidates for religious ministry undertake minimum training on preventing and responding to abuse and neglect in care and related matters, including training that: a. equips candidates with an understanding of the Care Safety Principles (Recommendation 39), the National Care Safety Strategy (Recommendation 40), and all statutory requirements under the Care Safety Act (Recommendation 45), including care standards, accreditation and vetting b. educates candidates on: i. professional responsibility, boundaries and ethics in ministry ii. identifying and preventing abuse and neglect in care iii. cultural awareness iv. addressing prejudice and all forms of discrimination v. policies regarding appropriate responses to allegations or complaints of abuse and neglect in care, and how to implement these policies vi. how to work with children, young people, and adults in care.	Agree but feel it is for the churches to accept and act on the recommendation.

Recommendation 99 Each faith-based entity should require that all people in religious or pastoral ministry, including religious leaders, undertake regular training on the institution's safeguarding policies and procedures. They should also be provided with opportunities for external training on best practice approaches to people safety.		Agree but feel it is for the churches to accept and act on the recommendation.
Recommendation 100 Wherever a faith-based entity has children, young people, or adults in its care, they should be provided with age- appropriate prevention education that aims to increase their knowledge of abuse and neglect and build practical skills to assist in strengthening self- protective skills and strategies. Prevention education in religious institutions should specifically address the power and status of people in religious ministry and educate children, young people, and adults in care that no one has a right to invade their privacy and make them feel unsafe.		Agree but feel it is for the churches to accept and act on the recommendation.

Recommendation 104 All faith-based entities' complaint handling policies should require that, if a complaint of abuse and neglect in care against a person in religious ministry is credible, and there is a risk that person may encounter children in the course of their ministry, the person be stood down from ministry while the complaint is investigated.		Agree but feel it is for the churches to accept and act on the recommendation.
Recommendation 105	Accept

All faith-based entities should, when deciding whether a complaint of abuse and neglect in care has been substantiated, consider the principles set out by the courts in applicable case law in accordance with the seriousness of the allegation.		We work from likelihood now for current and historic disclosures. If current, we would report to the authorities directly, eg. NZ Police.
Recommendation 106 All faith-based entities should apply the same standards for investigating complaints of abuse and neglect in care, whether or not the subject of the complaint is a person in religious ministry.	Accept Recommendation 107 Any person in religious ministry who is the subject of a complaint of abuse and neglect in care which is substantiated on the balance of probabilities, applied flexibly according to the seriousness of the allegation in accordance with the principles set out by the courts in applicable caselaw, or who is convicted of an offence relating to abuse and neglect in care, should be permanently removed from ministry.
